

43pl is the international consortium of SMEs in the CRC for Spatial Information

OMNILINK is a business-to-business data management consultancy that will assist your organisation to locate and integrate your data, so you can interact better with it and enable enterprise-wide distribution of your information.

Services

OMNILINK's consultancy team work with local and state governments and businesses in Australia and New Zealand to review IT and GIS technology and data management plans. Following review, they make specific recommendations based on each organisation's requirements.

Business, GIS and IT Consultancy

- Advice on current GIS products and capabilities
- Information on system architecture
- Operating environments
- Database development and management
- Other business, IT and GIS reviews and recommendations as required.

Business Consultancy Services

- Business Consultancy Services - Business and technical consultancy services in GIS and IT.
- Data Management Consultancy Services - Data management planning for information management.
- GIS and Data Integration Consultancy - GIS database development, application and support.

Market Sectors

OMNILINK is a multi-million dollar Australasian data management company, which has been providing enterprise data management and integration services to clients for over 20 years. The company has developed special expertise and skills with regards to the data management requirements of Government, schools and private organisations particularly for spatial data.

Importantly OMNILINK understand both spatial and database technology, and thereafter the best ways to use technology in business.

Market Sectors cont

OMNILINK provides data and information services in

- Data Integration, Review and Audit
- Data Conversion
- Data Loading and Integration
- Data Capture Specifications
- Data Brokerage and Acquisition
- Data Management Plans
- GIS Consultancy
- Application Development - web, GIS, PDA and other business solutions
- Relational Database Development
- IT Business Consultancy

Product / Service Examples

OMNILINK's data management solutions have been successfully used by organisations, businesses and institutions in Australia and New Zealand.

Spatial Information Disciplines

GIS, Spatial data management

Company website

www.omnilink.com.au

